ALLIES TO RENDER NO AID TO POLES

Threatened Independence Only Would Cause Interference

London, Aug. 10.—"I am still hopeful of peace," were the opening words of Premier Lloyd George's announcement in the House of Commons today with regard to the Russo-Polish crisis.

The House was crowded, and the tension was high in anticipation of the Premier's "peace or war" statement. As he entered he was warmly cheered.

Mr. Krassin and Kamenoff, of the Russian Soviet delegation here were in the strangers' gallery.

Mr. Lloyd George declared the Polish attack was not justified in the opinion of the British Government and that the Soviet Government in any conditions of peace was entitled to take into account the facts of the attacks made by the Poles upon Russia and that those attacks were delivered despite the warnings of the Allies to Poland.

Must Not Partition Poland.

The Soviet, he declared was entitled to demand such guarantees as would be exacted by any Power against a repetition of attacks of that kind. What was challenged, he said, was that "nothing justifies retaliation, reprisal or punishment which goes to the extent of wiping out national existence."

"Apart altogether from the moral right of any Power to demand the extinction of another nation as punishment for the aggression of its Government," Premier Lloyd George said, "Europe has to be considered. The independence of Poland and its existence as an independent nation is an essential part of the structure of European peace. Repartition of Poland would not merely be a crime; it would be a peril, and we have to consider both these contingencies as sole purpose of the Allied policy was a basis for our policy."

The Premier declared that the to secure peace on a basis of independence for ethnographical Poland. He said the Hythe conference agreed that the Allies should advise Poland to endeavor to negotiate an armistice and make peace as long as such independence was recognized. That recommendation has been forwarded to the Soviet Government, the Premier stated.

He pointed out that the Allies suggested to the Soviet that they declare a truce Monday at midnight, but this was not accepted in view of the Minsk meeting set for Wednesday. He declared there had been great and auspicious delays in coming to a discussion of an armistice. He could not imagine, the Premier said, why, if there had been a real desire to have an armistice and negotiate peace the Soviet Government would not have fixed a date at the latest a week or ten days ago for the purpose.

The Premier continued: "We are not going to have a quarrel or propose to engage this country in a dispute whether it means much or little upon the difference between Monday or Wednesday, and there the Allies are agreed."

Continuing his outline of the decisions reached at the Hythe conference Mr. Lloyd George said:

"If they negotiate an agreement at Minsk, we do not propose to intervene to upset any arrangement which is acceptable to the Poles. It is their affair. I sincerely trust it will mean peace, but supposing it did not we have got to face that."

If the Minsk conference failed because the Poles refused to accept terms, which the Soviet was entitled to dictate having regard to the way in which the conflict started and to the Polish military condition, then the Allies could not support Poland, the Premier declared. However, if the Bolshevik insisted upon terms threatening the independence of Poland, then a different situation would arise.

Outlining the action of the Allies had decided to take if necessary, the Premier said no action would be taken except to support the struggle for Polish independence than President Wilson and I am certain that whatever differences of opinion there may be in America with regard to the Poland's existence and independence. No Allied troops would be sent to Poland, he declared. It would not be necessary he said, if the Polish resources were thoroughly organized and well directed.

The next action, continued the Premier, would be to put economic pressure upon Soviet Russia either by naval action or international action, substantial stores, he said, were available in that quarter of the world which the Allies would feel obliged to send to Poland.

Replying to an interjection as to what the position of America would be, Mr. Lloyd George said:

"We certainly are going to appeal to America. There is, of course, the difficulty in America that up to the present she has not ratified the treaty and that the treaty is the subject of conflict between the two great parties. It is not in our power to say what view the American executive would take. I am only judging from the attitude of America at the peace conference. She was a strong protagonist of Polish independence. No man could have taken a more determined and zealous part in setting up League of Nations there would be no difference in their general attitude towards Polish independence."

The Premier declared that up to the present Great Britain was taking no steps to assist in any attack on Soviet Russia inside her own territory, since the British Government's changed policy was announced.

The Premier declared that if the negotiations with Soviet Russia had broken down because of the Bolshevik attitude and the Allies had cut Russia off from the outside world there would be an end to any trade negotiations.

"If they want peace," he said, "they can get it as the London conference proposal was intended to establish peace."

JOHN P. HASWELL WINS NOMINATION

Victory Decisive, Though Vote Was Unusually Light.

With an unusually light vote polled Judge John P. Haswell, Jr., scored a victory in Saturday's primary election, winning the Republican nomination for Congress in the fourth district by approximately 475 plurality.

Only 468 votes were polled in Ohio County, distributed as follows: Haswell 274, Duncan 160 and Hays 34.

Judge Haswell is a resident of our neighboring County, Breckenridge, a high class gentleman of ability and sterling worth, and coupled with the fact that he resides within and adjacent to the Republican strongholds of the fourth district made his nomination reasonably easy of forecast.

Messrs. Hays and Duncan, Haswell's opponents for the honor and position sought, both made good impressions in this section and the latter developed quite a bit of strength in Ohio County.

Judge Haswell announces that he is going to make a thorough canvass of the district between this date and the November election and expects to occupy the seat warmly by Ben Johnson, in the National House of Representatives, for "Jo! these many years."

ALFRED McCONNELL SERIOUSLY INJURED

Mr. Alfred McConnell, of Beaver Dam, Route 2, was seriously injured Tuesday, when he fell under a wagon loaded with cross ties became entangled in a chain and was dragged under the wagon for a considerable distance before the team was stopped. One of the wheels passed over his body, mangle his arms, shoulders and head. He suffered the loss of one ear, and sustained serious internal injuries. At press hour Mr. McConnell was reported doing nicely, considering the nature of his wounds.

IN COUNTY COURT.

Thomas O. Baker, of Beaver Dam, recently qualified as Administrator of the estate of J. W. Baker, deceased. J. E. Hill has been appointed and qualified as administrator of the estate of Eady Hill.

W. H. Tomerlin was recently appointed as administrator of the estate of J. A. Tomerlin, deceased.

Leo P. Miller has been appointed administrator of the estate of John H. Miller, deceased.

MOSCOW AND BERLIN MAY JOIN FORTUNES

Germany May Regain Former Prestige By Red Alliance

Paris, Aug. 10.—The allies have formally assured Poland that if the Minsk negotiations reveal a Soviet-German agreement by which Germany is to get territory guaranteed to Poland by the treaty of Versailles, the allies will advance on the Rhine to force Germany to respect the treaty. It was learned at the French foreign office. It was semi-officially admitted that a blockade of Germany would be a futile measure.

Berlin, Aug. 10.—The German government is awaiting with high interest the arrival here of Wladimir Kopp, the Soviet representative to Germany from Moscow. He is en route from the Russian capital and is expected to arrive Saturday, although there is a possibility that he can get here Friday.

He is known to be bringing highly important communications and perhaps history-making decisions by the Soviet government. With his return to Berlin the Russo-German relations will become more clearly defined, with all indications pointing to the entering on a distinctly new stage.

What that stage will be and how much of it will become public will depend on the conversations between Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand, on the one hand, and on the attitude of the French toward Germany, on the other.

With the conversations between the premiers, with the British conferences between M. Krassin and M. Kamenoff and the political winking between Berlin and Moscow, which has long since passed the flirtation stage, and with the possibility of a little talk between the German foreign minister, Dr. Simons, and Premier Lloyd George when they take their vacations in Switzerland, comes the prospect of far-reaching significance to history.

In spite of all the dangers attendant on the several points of high tension in the last ten days, and the uncertainties, there is, for the first time since the armistice, something like a feeling of satisfaction in Germany, to the assurance that her position is strong and is getting stronger daily, and that she is still in the European political ring.

That feeling has been instilled by the Russian defeat of Poland, the proximity of the Russian armies to Germany and the fact that the entente seemed unable to do anything against Russia, together with the remarkable unanimity of the German political parties from the Communists to the Reactionaries if it becomes necessary to fight against an allied violation of German neutrality.

It is openly professed that there is no fear of a blockade, as the harvest is good. It is also professed that Great Britain knows full well that a blockade would automatically throw Russia and Germany together.

The demands, openly voiced in the French press, for the occupation of the Ruhr Valley, have met with the assertion that the French would not get a ton of coal if this occurred, and that, with the aid of Russia, Germany would again obtain the upper Silesian mines.

May Reject Intervention.

Just as the Soviets rejected British intervention and insisted that the Russo-Polish peace negotiations were a family affair and nobody else's business, there is a belief here that Moscow will take a similar stand in shaping Russo-German relations.

It is evident on every hand that the allies, by making Germany knuckle down at the Spa conference, instilled the thought in wide circles, hitherto antagonistic, that there are worse evils than a condition of quasi-Bolshevism.

Through playing up the press reports of the cruelties visited on the Germans in the East by the Poles, and dwelling on the occupation of Saar by the French, with alleged atrocities perpetrated by the colored troops, a strong feeling is being built up. Even the independent Socialists, who have heretofore been of the most friendly feelings toward France, have been forced by the attitude of Moscow to get on the anti-French band wagon. Poland may soon have two capitals. The majority of the foreign legation personnel, excepting the chiefs, have arrived in Posen, which has evidently been selected as a refuge if the Bolshevik troops came nearer to Warsaw.

JAS. T. MOORE.

Mr. James Thomas Moore died at his home here, early Tuesday morning, after an illness of several years duration, though the immediate cause of death was due to an attack of pneumonia. Brief funeral services were conducted at the home, by Rev. E. Watt Smith, after which burial took place in Oakwood, at 11 a. m., Wednesday.

Mr. Moore was born January 13, 1846, was a member of the local Christian Church, united in marriage with Miss Prudie Duke, October 25, 1893, to which union two daughters were born, Misses Elizabeth and Beulah, both of whom, together with Mrs. Moore, yet survive.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS DID SPLENDID WORK

The order of Knights of Pythias in Kentucky, which has a splendid home adjacent to Lexington, for the unfortunate widows and orphans of deceased members of the society, recently staged a campaign to raise funds to clear the home of debt and to create an endowment fund for the benefit of the home, and we are informed that the bond hopes of those in charge have been almost if not quite attained.

Rough River Lodge was apportioned and asked to raise $650.00, and the Lodge very promptly over subscribed the sum asked for, approximately one-half of the sum having been sent in some time ago.

CROP PROSPECTS ARE AIDED BY GOOD RAINS

Recent and tolerably general rains came in the nick of time to catch crops in this County as moisture was beginning to be essential. The cool spell some time ago coupled with needed rain had a tendency to further retard an already late corn crop, but since the downpour of the latter part of last week warm weather has again prevailed and the advancement has been wonderful.

The rainfall was excessive in some localities and a portion of the County received but little, in fact rain is still needed. The northern section was visited by too much and the southeastern portion lacks rain.

Tobacco is uneven in growth with rather small stalk and poor leaves, but the major portion of the crop is well on the road to maturity, in fact as early as it should be. With late fall, considering present prospects, the corn crop bids fair to surpass any of recent years, in so far as quality is concerned. The acreage is perhaps equal to the average for the past half dozen years.

The hay crop was unusually heavy and practically all of it was harvested in good condition, the greater portion of which has been baled and stored. Pasture at this season of the year was never better and is certain to continue so for some time, with another good rain in a week or two from this date good grazing is assured through the season when it is usually very poor. On the whole, the outlook for Ohio County is by far, better than the most sanguine hoped for in the late spring.

VILLA SURRENDERS; GREETED AS HERO

San Pedro, Conchita, Mexico, Aug. 9.—Francisco Villa marched into San Pedro Monday night between the lines of a cheering populace which greeted him with cheers of "Viva Villa." Behind him came his band of faithful followers, which, with their leader, surrendered to the De la Huerta government under terms agreed upon recently at Salinas.

As he drew up before the main plaza of the Mexican town a cheering throng of 3,000 gathered around him, the chieftain indicating that he was about to speak to them.

"I surrendered," he said, "because further fighting in Mexico meant intervention by the United States."

"They call me a bandit. They call me the worst man in Mexico, but I would preserve our nationality by avoiding intervention."

EQUAL SUFFRAGE UP TO TENNESSEE

Resolution To Ratify Giving Woman Ballot, Due Today, Result In Doubt

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 9.—The Tennessee Legislature, meeting in extraordinary session to act on the Federal Suffrage Amendment, today heard Governor Roberts urge prompt ratification and then adjourned until tomorrow without introduction of the ratification resolutions. Neither house was in session for more than an hour.

Ratification resolutions, leaders said tonight, will be offered tomorrow and referred to committees which may conduct hearings. A vote is not regarded as probable in either house before the end of the week at the earliest.

Both advocates and opponents of ratification, in statements issued after the initial session, expressed confidence in the outcome of the fight to make Tennessee the thirty-sixth State to ratify and thereby enfranchise the women of the nation in time to permit them to vote in the November elections.

Anti-suffragists claimed there were enough members opposed to suffrage to defeat the ratification resolution, while Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association, declared that if members pledged to ratification stood by their pledges suffrage would win. Mr. Roberts, in his message, declared ratification should be voted promptly in order that the women of the country might "share in shaping the destiny of the republic."

On all sides, it was said, the course of the Republican delegation would play an important part in the issue. Seven of the thirty-three Senators are Republicans. Seventeen votes in the Senate are necessary for ratification. In the House, however, the membership of ninety-nine includes twenty-nine Republicans. Fifty votes will be necessary for ratification by the House.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 9.—A letter was sent to Gov. Marcus H. Holcomb by Will H. Hays, chairman of the National Republican Committee, in which the executive is urged to call a special session of the Connecticut General Assembly to act on the suffrage amendment, it was made public today.

BLACK—PORTER.

Mr. Alvin B. Porter and Miss Edna Marie Black were married at the home of the bride's parents, near town, late Sunday afternoon in the presence of the family and a very few intimate friends. Rev. Russell Walker performed the ceremony uniting the young couple.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Frank Black, a former Ohio county teacher, and for some time connected with the Hartford Herald, in the capacity of associate editor, while the bridegroom is a son of Mr. Will Porter, of McHenry, and a grandson of F. M. Porter, deceased, with whom young Porter resided while in school at this place several years ago. The newly united couple left immediately for Herrin, Ill., where they are to make their future home.

MRS. LOU TWEDDELL VANOVER

Mrs. Lou T. Vanover died at the home of her son, R. L. Tweddell, of Hillsdale, Saturday morning, August 7th. The remains were conveyed to Buda Sunday following and after funeral services conducted by Rev. Raymer of Calhoun, burial took place in the Beulah Church Cemetery, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Vanover was 69 years of age, a splendid Christian woman and highly esteemed by all who knew her. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. John Chinn, of near this place, one brother, John Chapman, of Owensboro, and two sons, R. L., of Hillsdale and P. D. Tweddell, of No creek.

BAPTISTS CONDUCT GOOD ASSOCIATION

Pond Run Meeting Full Of Interest, Rev. Brandenburg Moderator For Ensuing Year.

Ohio County Baptists met Wednesday and Thursday of the present week in their annual Association, with the Pond Run Church, near Echols, in a very profitable and pleasurable gathering. Large numbers being in attendance, of both officials of the church and others as well.

Rev. B. F. Jenkins, one of the oldest active Baptist ministers of the Green River Section, delivered the annual sermon. One feature of special interest was the celebration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Pond Run Church.

Dr. R. L. Brandenburg, of Fordsville, was elected Moderator for the ensuing year, Revs. Birch Shields, of Cromwell and Russell Walker, of Hartford, were chosen as assistants. Mr. A. M. Smith, of McHenry, was re-elected Secretary and Mr. Wm. Fair, of Hartford, was elected to succeed himself as Treasurer for the eleventh time.

RAIN HALTS WEEK END BALL GAMES

Rain called a halt Saturday to the game between Rob Roy and Hartford. Both teams went through a snappy work out everything pointing to a good ball game, but rain intervened and the game was called off. The Sunday game with Graham was also canceled. Efforts are being made to make dates with these teams for the last of August or first of September.

The locals are in for a couple of hard games Saturday and Sunday with Deanfield and the Legion Team of Leitchfield.

MEN ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGES

Deputy Sheriff, W. H. Miller, of Fordsville, arrested Wyman Brown of Deanfield, upon a warrant charging him with unlawfully detaining a woman against her will. Brown was brought to Hartford Wednesday and in default of bail, was lodged in jail.

Murvil White, of Terro Haute, Ind., was arrested by Sheriff Bratcher Sunday, at Sunnydale, upon telegraphic information and request of the sheriff of Edgar County, Illinois, that White was wanted there upon a charge of rape. (We have however, been informed that the charge was perhaps that of violation of the Man White Slave Act.)

The Sheriff of the Illinois County came here for White and left Wednesday, with the prisoner in custody.

Young Mr. White formerly resided in this County, near Sunnydale, is of a good family and in so far as our knowledge extends, was considered a man of good repute.

PONZI DUBIOUS OF OWN SCHEME

Wizard Of Finance Will Not Reopen Office On Old Basis.

Louisville Herald.
By Larry A. Jacobs.

Boston, Aug. 7.—Charles Ponzi, Boston "money wizard" of Ple Alley, does not dare reopen his offices.

So he told me today in an exclusive interview.

Ponzi said this was not because of fear of the law; not because of fear of failure; but because of fear that his success would be too tremendous, too far-reaching in effect for him to handle.

We sat in the sun parlor of the beautiful home the "wizard" has built for his black-haired, black-eyed wife, "Rosalie." Ponzi says his success dates from his marriage to this pretty daughter of a wealthy importer.

Would Close Banks.

"I have no other fear that prevents me from reopening on my former basis," said he. "I firmly believe that if I announced that I would reopen my business at the former rates paid investors (50 per cent in ninety days), hardly a bank in Boston could survive."

"I suppose," he said, smiling quizzically "you think that sounds as though I am a braggart. But let me assure you that I do not mean to be. Let me explain."

"Any plan I would adopt would necessarily secure the most widespread publicity, and the result would be that no hundreds, not thousands, but millions of dollars would pour in every day. I would hesitate to predict what would happen. There could be no law to stop me, as far as I can find out. Who can pass a law to prevent a man from borrowing money and paying it back within a given time with interest?"

"Those who criticize me say that my statements can not be true. They are true and I know that they are true."

"My critics base their conclusions on the fact that government officials say that international reply coupons, which are the basis of my operations, have not been issued in the amounts that I have dealt in them."

Secret Is Safe.

"Let me tell you and then they can not say that because there are available absolutely no figures and data accessible to decide that point and probably never will be."

Ponzi was interrupted at this point by a telegram. I had a chance to look around the sun room. Handsome caned chairs, tables and chaise longue were placed in carefully correct positions around the room, and at each corner of the room were two birds in a cage.

"Notice my birds?" he asked, looking at them dreamily. "I am so happy in married life that I could not bear to see even a bird without a loving mate."

Ponzi has the large roving, brown eyes of the dreamer. But when he becomes interested they snap fire like lightning bugs. He is very courteous. In his youth he studied medicine at Naples.

"But," he added, "I can not say that I did much studying. I was little more than registered there. I played 'hokey' most of the time. And always I dreamed of the success that was to come sometime. I knew not how—but somehow. Of course, my imagination could not possibly have encompassed the success I have had."

Wall Street Friendly.

Ponzi handed me the telegram he had received after I had promised to keep the name of the sender secret. The message bore the signature of a well-known New York financier, asking for an appointment to talk over with Ponzi a plan whereby Ponzi would add to the immense fortune he claims to have made.

Ponzi smiled. "I think," said he, "that Wall street is getting more favorable and I know that Wall street would get enthusiastically favorable if Wall street knew my one great secret."

"I have been offered $10,000,000 for that secret and my business and I have accepted, but I do not think so."

"I think I shall reopen my offices after the government investigation and conduct it on a 10 per cent interest basis every six months. That is conservative enough to keep the money from flooding in and yet strong enough to make me more millions until foreign exchange is adjusted and the business ended."

And here Ponzi drew his dressing gown about him, called his Italian butler to notify his stenographer that he was ready to begin work and to lock the door and disconnect the phone, and bade me "good morning."

Miss Charles Ponzi Ple Alley "money wizard," the friendship or confidence of certain European governments, or government officials, making it possible for him to deal in foreign exchange on a tremendous scale? That much he hinted to me today as I questioned him about the "great secret", which, he says, enabled him to clear $8,500,000 in eight months. He would not amplify this hint further than to say: "The reason why the statistics on international reply coupons abroad can not be obtained in this country lies in the fact that foreign countries are not willing to disclose their own sources of revenue."

Boston, Aug. 9.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against Charles Ponzi in the Federal Court today. The petition was filed by Charles Cantwell, James Fernhill and Harry Farrell, who hold notes totaling $754.

The petition alleges that Ponzi is insolvent and that about July 15 he transferred a portion of his assets to one Charles Hoffman, a creditor, "with intent to give him preference over other creditors." The amount transferred to Hoffman is set in the petition at $3,000.

Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen announced this afternoon that he had ordered the Hanover Trust Company to pay no more checks of Charles Ponzi or his agents.

A Traveling Man's Experience

You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man."

CLANSMEN DENIED PARDON BY MORROW

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 7.—Participants in the Perman-Baker clan fight, staged in Laurel County last year, were refused executive clemency today by Governor Morrow. Pardons were asked by John Felix, Steve Perman, Hugh Baker and Robert Baker and in each case the governor refused to grant the application. The men were brought to the penitentiary last week and were members of the prison gang which the sheriff of Laurel county left unguarded and unhandcuffed in the lobby of the Hunt House while he went to the Capitol to call on the state officials.

The decision of the governor was made after a hearing and study of the cases.

Governor Morrow today appointed Vandyke Norman, of Louisville; C. W. Craig, secretary of the Paducah Board of Trade, and Mr. Vandergraff, traffic manager of the Louisville Board of Trade, to investigate alleged discrimination in freight rates against the State of Kentucky. The commission was named under a resolution passed by the last session of the General Assembly calling for an investigation of freight rates on the grounds that Kentucky was being discriminated against.

Governor Morrow today addressed a communication to Craig asking him to call the commission together as soon as possible, the meeting to be held in Louisville.

ON CHANGING ONE'S MIND

If you brag that after you have made up your mind you never change it, you boast that you are standing still. Things are happening with a rush in the world these days. Forces long invisible are becoming visible. Institutions are being shaken. We have seen, for example, the fall of the monarchist idea after centuries of unchallenged power.

If you judge people by first impressions, and hang with bulldog stubbornness to your judgments, you are certain to make mistakes. They thought Lincoln wasn't brilliant enough to be president because he was ungainly of figure and unpolished of manner.

If you judge ideas by first impressions, you convict yourself of having an idea-proof brain. Welcome the new idea, whoever presents it to you. Check it up with your old ideas and with your experience and knowledge.

Don't be afraid to say to the other fellow: "You're right I'm wrong." Don't be afraid to think.—Louisville Herald.

NEW YORK UNITED TO FIGHT TAMMANY

Murphy's Control Flayed, Complete Overthrow Propheesied

Washington, Aug. 9.—New York State is safely Republican as the result of developments during and since the Saratoga convention, according to reports received in congressional circles.

It is believed that the Republican convention placed a strong ticket in the field, that antipathy to further control of the State by Tammany will prevent the re-election of Governor Smith, that the extreme unpopularity of the Wilson administration will gain many Democratic votes, and that the entire State will be swept in by a majority of upwards of 200,000, with the result, as Job Hedges has said, that the Republicans next March will inaugurate and not anoint a President.

Col. William Hayward, who led a negro regiment to France during the war, has this to say of New York politics:

"Much the same lack of vision on the part of our Democratic opponents, much the same opportunism and quack doctrine is in evidence in their leadership in New York State as in the nation. The Democratic party is so divided on national issues it is necessary for President Wilson and the new nominee, Governor Cox, to resort to that 'secret diplomacy' Mr. Wilson so abhors, and to have a closed door conference, followed by cryptic statements that they are in perfect accord. This in lieu of the 'open covenants openly arrived at' Mr. Wilson has so long prated about."

"In the State the disagreements have gone even further. Every Tammany official damns every other Tammany official. The great Democratic editor damns the Tammany Governor. The Tammany Mayor damns the Tammany Public Service Commissioner, the appointee of the Tammany Governor, who damns the Mayor in return. The Tammany district Attorney and the Tammany Police Department accuse each other of all crimes in the category. And each gives competent and material facts of prove the truth of his assertions."

"The importance of all this to the people of the State lies in the fact that in these accusations those officials are nearer right than they have ever been in their public lives before because of the peculiarly intimate knowledge they have of each other. It is expert testimony, the truth of which we admit. It is one league, a 'League of Damned Nations' that the Republican party ratified without reservations."

"But because they are washing their indescribably dirty linen in public now, does not mean they will not present a solid front when the time comes to open another grab-bag."

"The people of the State know Tammany Hall. It was never a greater power than it is today. So low has the Democratic party fallen in State and nation that not only has Tammany placed Alfred B. Smith in the Executive Mansion, not only will it try to do so again, but it loudly proclaims that it nominated Cox as the Democratic candidate for the presidency."

"That is only one side of the Tammany menace. Beyond that is the integrity of our electoral franchise. Never before today have we faced such a disturbing condition."

"This year for the first time in the history of the City of New York, Tammany is in control of all the election machinery. There is a Tammany Governor, a Tammany Superintendent of elections, a Tammany District Attorney, a Tammany Mayor and a Tammany Police Commissioner."

"It is a warning and a portent of what we may expect. It is an additional reason to gird on our armor and fight for the party of principle."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. 76c.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Wilson organ, perhaps on the whole the ablest, the most militant and the most genuine Wilson organ in the country, never registering its perverted devotion to less than 120 in the shade, gets up, sits down and gets up again to ask one question of

Senator Harding, which it puts as follows:

"Is he for the ratification of the covenant and the league of nations with the Lodge reservations for which he voted twice in the United States Senate?"

"Or is he against the covenant and against the reservations for which he twice voted?"

"For or against? For or against?"

If the repetitive inquirer should cast its eyes over Senator Harding's speech of acceptance it could answer by itself, without Harding's or anybody's help—Evidently not. If the relentless questioner should shuffle its mind over toward Senator Harding's words it could answer by itself—Unquestionably not. If the jumpy investigator could keep its mind on Senator Harding's words for one minute it could answer by itself—Absolutely not.

The Wilson covenant of the league of nations with reservations was the best that could be hoped for as long as its creator was in the White House. But with Mr. Wilson to be out of the White House, Senator Harding said:

"I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican Congress can pass its declaration for a Republican Executive to sign."

Senator Harding said:

"It will avail nothing to discuss in detail the league covenant which was conceived for world supergovernment, negotiated in misunderstanding and intolerably urged and demanded by its Administration sponsors, who resisted every effort to safeguard America."

Senator Harding said:

"With a Senate advising as the Constitution contemplates, I would hopefully approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the consecration of nations to a new relationship, to commit the moral forces of the world, America included, to peace and international justice, still leaving America free, independent and self-reliant."

Senator Harding said:

"The program is specifically American and we mean to be Americans first to all the world."

This guarantee, "The program is specifically American" tee-totally and eternally lets out President Wilson's un-American nightmare of internationalism.—New York Sun.

In the days before the meeting of the San Francisco convention the President gave an excellent indication of a man who had conquered his prejudices against third terms. He had new photographs taken; he showed himself on the streets of Washington; his demeanor was that of one who had begun again to take notice.

But no call came. And then, in a spontaneous way, the principal members of his official family blossomed out in favor of the nomination of the President's son-in-law. But the alternative plan also encountered a twist. Mr. Cox was nominated because, so the correspondents said, he was the aspirant least connected with the Administration and because alleged moldiness might bring an issue to the front which was not a part of Wilsonism.

At Washington effort has since been directed for three weeks to converting defeat into victory—that is to say, to capturing and annexing Brother Cox. Success seems to have been attained. The candidate was subtly enveloped, and, despite his squintiness, may now be regarded as reconciled to the plan that the campaign shall turn on the issue of whether Wilsonism is to be endorsed or repudiated. Governor Cox is no match for the President in political finesse, and when it was hinted that he must choose between White House friendship or hostility he surrendered.

The way the President has extricated himself from the position in which he was left by the San Francisco convention is highly skillful. It shows that in closet work he is most resourceful. He has saved his pride and has the satisfaction of escaping humiliation.—New York Tribune.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

NO SENATOR WAS EVER ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY

If Harding should be elected it would establish a new precedent, since every senator who has hitherto run for the presidency has met with defeat. The leaders of both parties have always been opposed to putting up senators on that account. The Republicans knew about the senatorial handicap of course when they chose Harding, but they took him in spite of that. The reason why senators have never been favorites as presidential standard-bearers is that they have made so many speeches and voted on so many bills that they usually have made a lot of enemies. But

Get Well! Your Blood and Nerves Need Iron

The most powerful and beneficial tonic in all medicine for the blood and nerves is iron. High medical authorities agree on this. But it is a mistake to take any ordinary form of iron and expect to get satisfactory results. Most of the common forms of iron are what is known in science as "inert" because when taken into the human system they exert no action whatever. Perhaps this is why you have been disappointed when you have taken certain pills or tablets or lozenges said to contain iron.

The new way to restore iron to the blood—the surest and most dependable of all methods—is through the use of Acid Iron Mineral. This is a natural form of soluble iron, found in Nature itself, combined with other highly beneficial remedial agents. The story of the discovery of this new form of iron reads almost like a fairy tale and medical science has proved beyond question or doubt its remarkable blood-making powers.

Acid Iron Mineral may be procured in either liquid or the more convenient tablet form at any drug store. It contains no alcohol or injurious drugs and will not blacken the teeth. It has been especially noted that pale, puny children, weak, run-down persons and those enfeebled by age show improvement and exhibit increased strength almost immediately after starting treatment.

EVER BILIOUS?

Charleston, Miss.—Mrs. R. V. Heins, of this place, says: "I have never had to use very much medicine, because if I felt headache, dizziness, or colds, bad taste in the mouth, which comes from torpid liver, I would take a dose or more of Black-Draught, and it would straighten me out and make me feel as good as new. We have used in our family for years and it certainly is the best liver medicine I ever saw. It has not only saved me money, it has helped keep my system in shape, and has never weakened me as so many physics do. I recommend it to my friends and am glad to do so." Black-Draught is the old, reliable liver medicine which you have doubtless heard much about. When you feel badly all over, stomach not right, bad taste in your mouth, bilious, or have a headache, try Thedford's Black-Draught. At all Druggists.

THEDFORD'S

In the case of Harding, the G. O. P. managers say they "love him for the enemies he has made" and they count on his senatorial record winning more votes than it will turn away. We shall know more about this after the election.

PHILIPPINE SCARCROW ATTRACTS THIS MARINE

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Because his soul had become attuned to the jazz music of bamboo rice whistles, Sergt. John H. McClasky re-enlisted in the Marine Corps here today, especially for Philippine service.

The Negritos of the Philippines cut bamboo whistles which they fasten to fences around their rice fields, according to McClasky. When the wind blows they produce a wailing, screaming sound which keeps away birds that are destructive to the crops.

Sergeant McClasky has just finished a term with the Marines in the Orient, and will return there on the next transport leaving here for Manila.

VILLA TO RECEIVE VALUABLE ESTATE

50 Followers Of Bandit To Act As Guard At Mexico's Expense

San Pedro, Coahuila, Mexico, Aug. 6.—Under terms of his "unconditional" surrender, Francisco Villa, Mexican bandit leader, will get a huge estate at Canutillo, Durango, where he will be guarded for the remainder of his life by fifty of his trusted followers, who will be paid by the government, it was learned today.

Villa's surrender will cost the Mexican government two million dollars gold, according to estimates.

Villa, with 900 officers and men, is enroute over the desert to San Pedro from Cuatro Ciénegas for final arrangements for his surrender and disarming of his forces.

He will reach here Monday and then march to Gomez Palacio where his men will be disarmed and receive a year's pay prior to being given farms where the men themselves designate throughout Mexico. Part of them will be in the Northern tier of states.

Spies Everywhere.

Villa has spies in every Mexican town and hamlet and these also are en route to Gomez Palacio to share in the surrender terms.

The personal guard of fifty men Villa will select, it is presumed, from among his most trusted officers, thus keeping a nucleus for another revolutionary army if he becomes dissatisfied.

The guard will be paid according to the rank the various officers held under Villa, and can not be displaced, according to the official agreement Gen. Eugenio Martinez made public here.

Word of Honor Exchanged.

According to the agreement, signed July 28, Villa gave his "word of honor" never to fight against the constitutional government or against Mexico, and Martinez gave his word of honor that the conditions agreed on would be complied with strictly.

The agreement creates in Mexico a situation paralleling that resulting in the United States from the Indian settlements.

Villa, in surrendering, is an independent as ever. Federal government agents for days following his assenting to the surrender agreement were unadvised as to his whereabouts. That gave rise to many rumors the surrender had not occurred and that Villa had tricked the government.

Mexico City, Aug. 7.—A commission of Lower California today submitted to Provisional President de la Huerta, a list of names from which he is requested to select a governor of their state to replace Esteban Cantu. Those suggested were Carlos Hernandez, David Zarate, Ricardo Pomero and Epigmenio Ibarra. All are business men.

Mexico City advises on July 30, announcing arrival of the commission there, stated that its members insisted the state executive should be a native of Lower California and that they claimed Governor Cantu was not. Recent reports have mentioned efforts on the part of the provisional government to dissuade the Lower California executive from continuing a reported revolt against the government.

INTEREST BEARING NOTE 4,000 YEARS OLD FOUND

Philadelphia, Aug. 7.—An unpaid note for four shekels in silver bearing 40 per cent annual interest for nearly 4,000 years recently was found among the clay tablets at the University of Pennsylvania Museum by Dr. Leon Legrain. The note was given by a man named Bur-Mama to Il Shunatum in October, 1962 B. C., the "year in which King Rim-Sin occupied the town of Dur-Damigilisha."

There were four witnesses to the note. Instead of signatures the witnesses placed their seals on the document and were not liable for payment unless it was shown they knew the character of Bur-Mama was had when they swore it was good.

Altho comparisons are difficult, Dr. Legrain said, a shekel of silver at the time the note was made was equal to about $100 at the present time.

A MARTYR TO X-RAYS

Dr. Vaillant, a French x-ray expert who has worked in the radiographic department of a Paris hospital for 15 years has lost both hands as a result of x-ray burns. He has also undergone years of pain and has suffered greatly from inability to sleep. It first became necessary to amputate his right hand. Then three fingers had to be removed from the other. He continued working with his remaining fingers until a short time ago when he had to have his left arm cut off. It is said that further operations may have to be performed to save his life.

TO SPREAD CONSTITUTION

To place a copy of the constitution of the United States "in each of the 20,000,000 homes in America" is the purpose of the new Constitutional League of America. Among the directors of the league are former secretary of the Interior Lane, C. E. Hughes and ex-Attorney-General Wickersham. It is the desire of the league to bring about a more general knowledge of the constitution and to encourage its use as a model for self-government in industrial plants and elsewhere.

SAWDUST

It is a very unpleasant sensation to have sawdust thrown into your eyes, isn't it. Few of us fail to remember that oft-told story of the hero who foiled the villain by resorting to that hit of strategy.

Every American citizen today is dodging a blinding storm of sawdust, in the form of propaganda thrown to the four winds by a clique of political manipulators seeking to hide the shortcomings of a party and an administration that need to be brought to an accounting.

These Democratic false witnesses are playing a game. They believe it will succeed. They are ready to carry it to the limit. It is their party's trump card. It is this: They are going to try to blind the public to the true issues of today in this country.

They have tacked down the black cover of propaganda upon the record of an administration that is defunct. They have constructed great shields of empty promises and future good intentions to hold back the winds of public wrath which are certain to blow.

Bring them to face a truly great issue, and they dodge. They prefer to jump nimbly from one thing to another, circle around subject after subject and lead their interrogators a merry chase ending at the same place they started—only farther away.

Today's need is for men who will face the issue and meet it; men who will restore to our government its natural functioning processes, who will level power with reason, take away departmental and executive anarchy and bring back a sane balancing of authority.

The Democratic dictatorship would seek to hide this need. Brought to its knees in the face of defeat upon one issue, it brings forth another only to be humbled again and bring forth a third. There is a system of pussy-footing to an artistic degree. Desperate, they are clutching at the last straw. They are scattering sawdust.

But the public has had experience. It demands that the Democratic party and its henchmen-in-office stand trial.

The issue is: Does America want a dynasty or a Democracy?

There is an issue the Democratic party cannot straddle.

Sweetness of Revenge.

Timothy Brown was a commercial traveler and a valuable asset to his employers.

On one of his periodical rounds he included in his list of calls a certain yarn merchant, Johns Perkins by name—a crochety, ill-natured individual—who invariably treated Timothy with the greatest of discourtesy, and who on more than one occasion had torn his card up in his presence and thrown it on the floor. As becomes a good commercial traveler, however, Timothy was undaunted and vowed to be revenged.

In due course he called on his friend again and presented his card.

"Hailon!" shouted old Perkins, giving the card the usual wrench. "What the—?" But here he interrupted himself with a yell of pain, accompanied by a miniature war dance.

Timothy's card was made of enamel. That's—London Tit-Bits.

WILL GIVE BETTER TRANSFER SERVICE

On and after July 1, I will be able to give you 100 per cent better transfer service between Hartford and Denver Dam, for the following reasons:

I will operate nothing but clean, easy riding cars.

You will not be compelled to wait while the mail is being loaded.

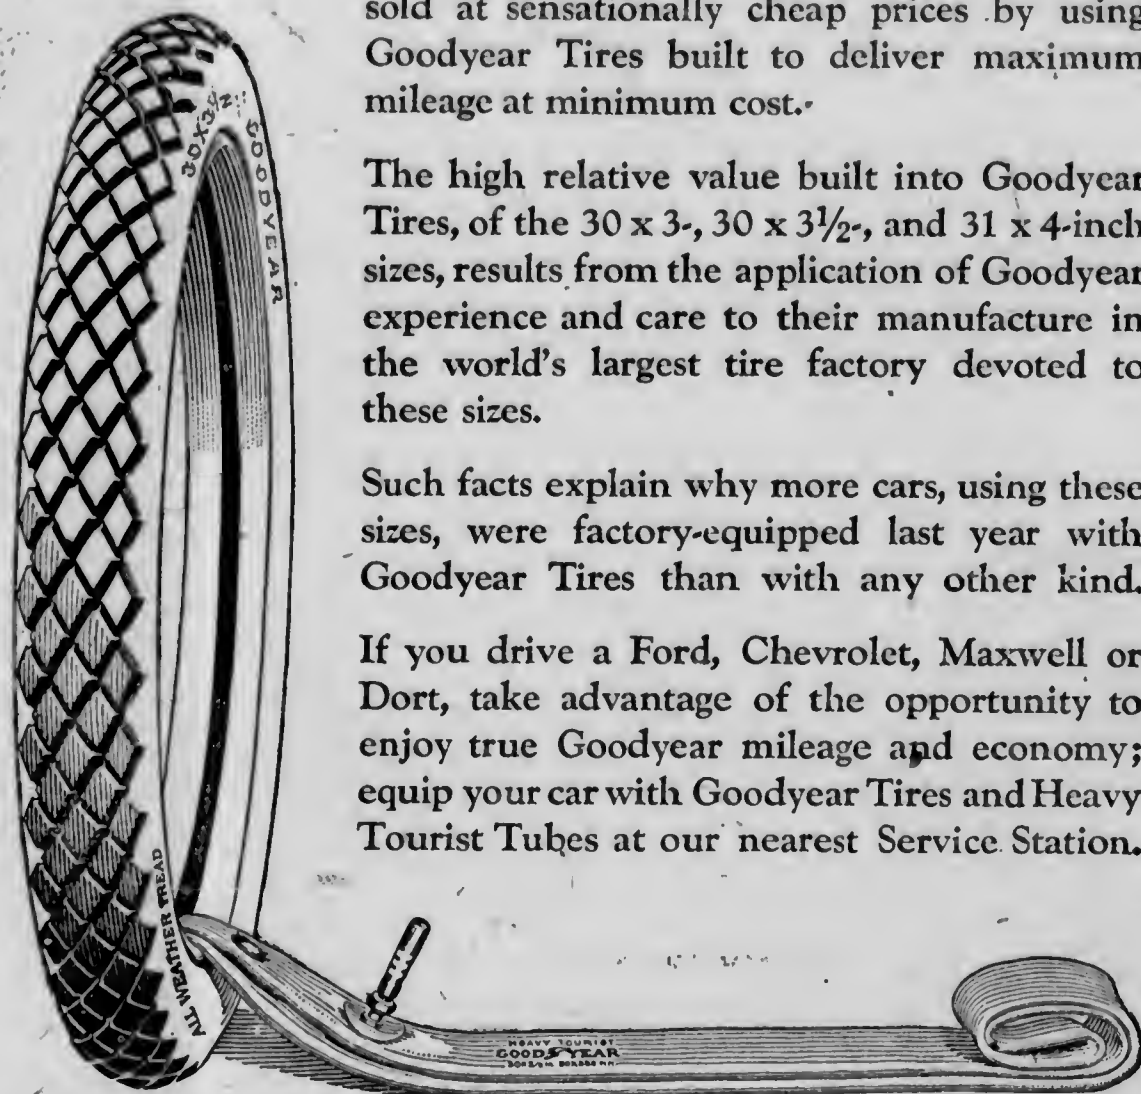

You will not be compelled to ride in a mail truck with the dirty mail bags.

I will be able to start promptly on time, as I will have no mail for which to wait.

I appreciate your patronage while I was handicapped by the mail contract, and assure you that it is with pleasure that I announce a better service for you.

JAPANESE DIPLOMAT WOULD RENEW PACT

To Block England From Any Row With U. S. Is Desire

Tokio, July 2.—Viscount Kato, formerly ambassador to England, in a recent interview declared that altho the arbitration treaty between England and the United States was not ratified by the Senate and the result aimed at unaccomplished, that it was Japan who proposed the insertion of a clause in the Anglo-Japanese alliance which would remove the risk of England's becoming involved in any dispute between the United States and Japan.

The clause referred to is Article VI of the alliance which provides that, should either party conclude a treaty of general arbitration with a third power, it is agreed that nothing in the agreement should impose an obligation to go to war with the power with whom such an arbitration treaty is in force.

Diplomats Differ. A difference of opinion appears to exist in Tokio diplomatic circles as to the actual scope of the British-American arbitration treaty. The treaty actually in force is the so-called Bryan treaty which was signed in 1914. Its aim is to advance the cause of general peace and it provides that all disputes of every nature shall be referred to a permanent arbitration commission which has at least a year to study the dispute at issue. The parties reserve the right to set independently on the subject matter of the dispute after the report has been submitted but agreed not to engage in hostilities before the commission has made its report.

The Bryan treaty was to continue for five years but remains in force until twelve months after one of the contracting parties has given notice of an intention to terminate it. Unless renounced, the treaty is, therefore, without limit of duration. Americans apparently regard this as a permanent arbitration agreement.

It is learned here that Japan was approached by the United States concerning the signing of a similar agreement. Viscount Kato, who was foreign minister, expressed Japan's desire for permanent peace with the United States but the Japanese government has never followed up the official suggestion of the United States government to arrange a treaty.

One treaty concerning arbitration already exists between Japan and the United States. It was signed in 1908, renewed in 1913 and in 1918 was extended to 1923. This agreement refers only to differences which may arise of a legal nature or relating to the interpretation of treaties existing between the contracting parties. Such matters are to be submitted to the permanent Hague tribunal.

In the course of the interview above referred to, Viscount Kato admitted he could name no specific object to be accomplished by the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, but he thought its renewal would be an act of prudence on the part of both nations.

"It has been in existence for twenty years," he said, "and it has been useful for both countries. If it is renewed, the position will not be the same as if it had never been made. The tendency will be for the two countries to drift apart."

A "SOLAR COOKER."

The latest of the numerous devices that have been produced to concentrate and utilize the sun's heat is a "solar cooker" that is being developed by scientists at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. Mirrors arranged about a half-cylinder of iron concentrate the sun's rays on a metal tube that coincides with the axis of the half-cylinder. Oil in the tube is thus heated and made to circulate through it and a loop to which it is connected. The loop which passes through an oven heats it sufficiently for cooking when the sun shines.

EARTHQUAKES IN U. S.

Ordinarily there are from 199 to 200 earthquakes annually in the United States but in 1919 there were only 87, according to a bulletin of the department of agriculture. Most of the quakes occurred on the Pacific coast where slight earth tremors are commonplace. There were 20 quakes in the region embraced in southern Illinois and Indiana, western Kentucky and Tennessee. There was one in Missouri, two south of Wichita, Kan., and one around Washington, D. C.

GUN IN AIRPLANE

A gun to fire through the propeller shaft of airplanes was designed by American engineers to be used by the U. S. army in the late war. Like several other valuable wartime inventions, however, it was not developed to a practical stage in time to be used in actual combat. The gun's jacket fits inside the shaft of the propeller. The gun which has a bore of one and a half inches hurls its armor-piercing projectiles right through the shaft.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The bodies of 2,891 American soldier dead have been returned from overseas, the War Department announced today, and those of 1,388 others are en route to the United States. Requests have been received for return of approximately 45,000 bodies from France and England.

TO COMPLETE DAM.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 6.—According to an announcement of Charles B. Enlow, receiver for the Ohio River Contract Company, the new government dam on the Ohio River, seventeen miles below here, will be completed some time this year. Work on the dam started several years ago and when completed it will be one of the largest dams on the Western rivers. Several government officials inspected the dam today. More than 250 men are now working on the locks and dam day and night.

STATE FARM LOAN POPULAR

Under the new Oklahoma law more than 8000 citizens have applied for state loans to purchase farms. About $1,000,000 is available for this purpose, notes to run for 20 years, bearing interest at four per cent. Borrowers must have been residents of the state for two years or more, and owners of not more than 40 acres of land. Land purchased by one person under the loan act is limited to 160 acres.

WOULD UNITE FIVE NATIONS

A plan has been submitted to the governments of Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica by Dr. Paredes, minister of foreign affairs of Salvador, urging a conference for the purpose of laying plans for a union of the five nations. The subjects for discussion proposed are the unifying of the texts of the various constitutions, the equalizing of tariff duties, the codifying of substantive laws, free interchange of products and the adoption of a uniform monetary standard. The plan is endorsed by the president of Salvador and his cabinet, and is commented favorably on by the press.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For President—
WARREN G. HARDING.
For Vice President—
CALVIN COOLIDGE.
For U. S. Senator—
RICHARD P. ERNST.
For Congress—
JOHN P. HASWELL, JR.

While America saved the world,
a Republican Senate patriotically assisted by twenty, or more, Democrats saved America.

Democratic papers and speakers seem never to tire of berating what they please to term the Senate Oligarchy for blocking the Wilson League.
If we admit the charge as being true,
the winning of the Oligarchy over the Wilson Dynasty was a god-send to America. Even an Oligarchy which is composed of a few, is preferable to a Dynasty constituted by only one.

If those Poles ever succeed in getting rid of their unwelcome visitors, the Russian Bear in red garb, in all probability they will allow a tolerably lengthy space of time to elapse before giving the Bear another chance to chase him out of his own back yard, as has recently been done. And it is extremely doubtful if the present fierce war being carried to the Poles' own door by the Russian Bolshovik, and the Poles, present sorry plight, is not directly chargeable to Britain and France.

Not long since we noticed in a Kentucky Democratic paper a list embracing a score or more of reasons as to why the people should and would retain the Democratic Party in power, and in each and every case it was the extreme high price of some product cited as a claim for democratic support. Alongside of the rather meagre prices now received by the farmers for their stuff, we failed to see any figures on sugar, shoes, clothing, wearing apparel of any description, neither was there any sort of comparison of the prices of tobacco, beef hides, wool and a dozen other items with the big, Southern Planter's cotton and sugar. But the article gave all credit for high prices to democratic policies. Then along came Governor Cox with the claim that big contributions to Republican campaign funds was the means of securing underholds upon the country to flinch from the people through exorbitant prices etc. And everybody knows that during the reign of the profiteer Democrats have been stocking, piloting and otherwise commanding the ship.
And then not so very long ago the Hartford Herald soundly berated the Republicans for failure to lower prices. If there ever comes a time when this Democratic flea can be certainly located then an ordinary person may be able to catch him.

The recent primary election in this County, and in fact, it was not different in this from the other 70 and odd counties in Kentucky, in which primary elections were held Saturday, to give the people a chance to select their candidates, was a farce, when one considers the absence of interest shown by the voters, for whose presumable pleasure and benefit primary elections are conducted.

We confess that we have taken more interest in the results in the various counties, in both the Democratic and Republican primaries than we actually had in the primary itself. Though we were one of the 468 who voted in Saturday's primary. Less than one-sixth of the Republicans expressed their choice, out of three to select from, for a representative in Congress from this district. About the same condition existed throughout the entire district. In Jefferson County, the 5th district, Democrats manifested about the same interest as shown in the fourth. These results would lead one to believe that primaries for all nominations other than County offices, perhaps, should be abolished. Saturday's primary will cost Ohio County approximately $1.25 for every vote polled. Too much per head to pay for recording votes.
We are not complaining at the result of the few voters' choice, we are well pleased. Lack of general interest and failure of the voters to exercise their privilege, for which the primary election law was framed, is the surprising and regrettable feature of the recent primaries in Kentucky.
And, in all probability the law will be repealed by the next General Assembly, at least in part.

"For years large contributions have been made to the Republican campaign fund for no purpose but to buy a governmental underhold, and make illegal profits as the result of preference.
Such largesses are today a greater menace to our contentment and our institutions than the countless temporary profiteers, who are making a mockery of honest business, but who can live and fatten only in time of disturbed prices."—(Cox in speech of acceptance.)

For years prior to the last election, Democrats have been in free and undisputed control, and in all things executive and judicial, now have complete sway, yet, according to the above utterances of the Democratic candidate for President the under-holds for profiteering and plundering of the people have been purchased by campaign contributions to the Republicans. What do you think of a statement like the above coming from an aspirant for position of chief Magistrate? Legal preferments to rob the people, bought by contributing to Republican campaign funds while Democrats were in absolute power and control at every end of the switch? If any man or set of men had money to spend for the special and unlawful privilege to pilage the public, and not being fools, he or they would most certainly do business with the fellow or association who had something to sell. Profiteers have been for several years dealing in spot delivery and not in futures. And if Democrats have not been in control of the Pitt during the regime of the profiteering plunderer, then we seriously doubt the reality of the hereafter.

A. E. F. HISTORICAL AFTER AUGUST 31ST

Washington, Aug. 10.—The American Expeditionary Forces will pass into history August 31, when the only remaining unit of the army that fought in France, A. E. F. Headquar-

Hartford has had a recent shift in one of her great industries. Albert shown up late Tuesday evening it began to be hoped by some of the more optimistic, that he had been kidnapped, but alas, he bobbed up Wednesday morning apparently from nowhere, with two little red eyes and a moonshine halo o'er-spreading that portion of his anatomy where one's countenance ought to be.

Roll Riley and Billie Fair attended the Baptist Association at Pond Run Wednesday. A bounteous dinner was served on the grounds, and the next forenoon, for these two birds, was the morning after. Neither one looked as though he had slept for a week or had a friend in the whole Green River section. In fact we saw Roll late Wednesday evening and he looked like an advance agent of tough luck going in high gear.

He, who with a stout heart, willing hands and an honest purpose hews for himself a trail over rough and rugged ground, interspersed with thorns and thistles, is most certain to find the path, at some point, hurst-ling forth upon a goal of glistening splendor, in a verdant oasis where dwell but few competitors, due to the fact that only the easy and well beaten route, that offering the least resistance, is traversed by the many.

TURKISH PEACE

TREATY SIGNED
Sevres, France, Aug. 10.—The peace treaty with Turkey was signed here at 4:08 o'clock this afternoon.
Gen. Hamid Pasha was the first to sign for Turkey.

Premier Millerand of France presided at the ceremony, which was concluded at 4:30 o'clock. After the three Turkish representatives had signed, the Allies affixed their signatures, Greece and Italy signing among the last. Serbia and Hedjaz did not sign and were not represented.

There were three documents involved in the ceremony. The treaty itself, an Italo-Greek protocol, and a protocol on Asia Minor and the zone of influence.

NOTICE.

Parties knowing themselves indebted to the Hartford Live Stock Co., will please come in and settle on or before August 10, 1920.

HARDING INVITES

TEXAS INTO FOLD

Marion, O., Aug. 9.—In a telegram of greeting to Texas Republicans, Senator Harding declared tonight that it would "herald a new era in American politics" if this campaign could see a breaking up of the Democratic Solid South.

The message was sent to F. E.
Schoy to be read at the Republican State Convention at Dallas. It follows:

"Please convey my most cordial greetings to Texas Republicans assembled in state convention. It would herald a new era in American politics to have the great state of Texas lead in a new political alignment in the wonderful Southland with all its measureless possibilities.

"I recently sensed the inspiring confidence of Texans in the capacity of our republic to work out a great American destiny and I firmly believe that the interests of your great state are those of our common country which the Republican party aims to reserve and promote. It will be fine to know that a strong and harmonious Republican organization has been effected to give voice and influence to the party sentiment in Texas, and add to the force of our appeal to the confidence of all the American people."

Most of today was spent by Senator Harding at work on correspondence. He held several political conferences, however, among his callers being James R. Reynolds, former secretary of the Republican National Committee, and James Walden Johnson, of New York, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Tomorrow many important campaign subjects are to be taken up at a conference with Will H. Hays, the Republican national chairman and Harry Daugherty, who was Senator Harding's pre-convention manager, and who now is taking an active part in management of the national campaign.

FORTY PERSONS ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH RIOT

West Frankfort, Ill., Aug. 9.—
More than forty persons, suspected of complicity in the anti-Italian rioting here, were under arrest tonight.

Quiet prevailed and there was no indication of a renewal of the disorders. The guard, which was removed from the business district yesterday, had not been restored but the militiamen continue to patrol the foreign quarters.

RUSSELL WALKER,
W. M. FAIR,

morning by the United States Railway Labor Board, which has heard their claims.

All employees of the express company, with the exception of 2,500 shopmen, who were benefited by the thirteen-cent increase granted July 20 in the $600,000,000 award to the 2,000,000 railway employees, will be affected by tomorrow's decision. The award is the second to be made by the railway labor board, which was created by the Esch-Cummings transportation act.

The express lucrenae, it was learned tonight, is to be a flat basis of all classes of express employees, including messengers, clerks, drivers, chauffeurs, stablemen and others. While it was indicated that the award will not be all the men asked, it was stated on reliable authority the amount would exceed that granted to the great majority of the railroad workers, the board maintaining that the express employees, as a class, were not so well paid as the average railroad man.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Prevention of "Flat-Sour" in Canning Vegetables.

Canned corn, peas, beans, and asparagus may show no signs of spoilage to the eye, and still when opened may have a sour taste and a disagreeable odor. This trouble is known to the canner as "flat-sour," and can be avoided, U. S. Department of Agriculture canning specialists say, if the canner will use vegetables that have been gathered not more than five or six hours, blanch, cold-dip, pack one jar at a time, and place each jar in the canner as it is packed. The first jar in will not be affected by the extra cooking. When the steam-pressure canner is used, the jars or cans may be placed in the retort and the cover placed in position but not clamped down until the retort is filled. Rapid cooling prevents overcooking, clarifies the liquid, and preserves the shape and texture.

Cheese and Potato Puffs.

The following excellent luncheon or supper dish is one tested in the experimental kitchen of the United States Department of Agriculture:

- 1 cup of mashed potatoes.
- 1-4 cup of milk.
- 1 egg.
- 1/2 teaspoon of salt.
- 1/2 cup of grated cheese.

Beat the potatoes and milk together until thoroughly mixed. Add the egg and the salt and beat thoroughly. Finally add the cheese. Bake in muffin tins in a slow oven 10 or 15 minutes.

A similar dish may be made by scooping out the inside of a baked potato and mixing it with cheese as above. Fill the potato-skin shell with the mixture, return to oven, and bake until light brown.

More Food Value From Corn Silage

Almost any green crop can be made into silage successfully. Much care, however, must be taken to expel the air from such hollow-stemmed plants as the small cereal grains by cutting fine and packing firmly. Other crops, of which legumes are examples, are deficient in the fermentable constituents needed for palatable silage. On the other hand, a few crops, such as the saccharine sorghum, have so much sugar that unless cut at a more mature stage they have a tendency to produce sour silage.

In most parts of the United States more food materials can be obtained from an acre of corn as silage than from an acre of any other crop that can be grown. Corn is more easily harvested and put into the silo than crops like rye, clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa, and when cut for silage the maximum quantity of nutrients is preserved. Experiments have shown that corn, when siloed, lost 15.6 per cent of the dry matter, against 23.8 per cent when cut for fodder and cured in the field. Moreover, there is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder, since good silage properly fed is consumed. When corn is cut for silage the land is cleared and left ready for another crop sooner than when the corn is shocked or is husked from the standing stalk. Corn can be put into the silo at a cost not above that of shocking, husking, grading, and shredding.

Farmers' Bulletin 578 on The Making and Feeding of Silage may be had by addressing the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

"Lucky" Goes to Texas.

To further the study of the Morgan as a saddle breed, the United States Department of Agriculture has sent the 2-year-old Morgan stallion Lucky from the Morgan horse farm at Middlesbury, Vt., to the Santa Gertrudis ranch at Kingsville, Tex. This is the "home ranch" of the famous King Ranch, one of the largest and best known cattle and horse breeding establishments in the United States. The Bureau of Animal Industry is paying close attention to the saddle possibilities of the Morgan horse. The King Ranch will breed Lucky to some of its high class mares and make a careful study of the produce.

Lucky is a brown stallion 14 3-4 hands high and weighs 925 pounds. He was sired by Hugo. Hugo was sired by Meteor Morgan and is out of Calve by General Gates. The dam of Lucky is Eunice by General Gates and out of Caroline by Daniel Lambert. Lucky, his sire and dam, and one of his grand dams were bred at the government farm at Middlesbury. Lucky arrived safely at his new home on July 22.

Morgans have always been noted for their endurance and stamina, and have been used to some extent on the range for the production of cow ponies. The outcome of this systematic study in cooperation between the King Ranch and the Bureau of Animal Industry will be watched with much interest by horse breeders.

Estimating Hog Prices by Bushels

Measuring the prices of a hog in bushels of corn, instead of in dollars, is a form of applied mathematics used by the United States Department of Agriculture in keeping tab on prices of farm products. Theoretically 100 pounds of live hogs should be worth about 13 bushels of corn. The ratio varies. It is generally highest in the corn belt and lowest in New England, the far South, and the far West. At the present time the ratio is usually narrow—that is, 100 pounds of hogs is not worth as many bushels of corn as usual. The department draws the inference that during the next 12 months hogs will advance more than corn or corn will decline more than hogs.

Even Weight Even Quality

In certain sections of the country the practice of "stuffing" a barrel, a box, or a bag with under-size and over-ripe specimens of fruits and vegetables is common. But no longer does this fool any one, say marketing experts of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, for the buyers give slight consideration to the top of packages offered by these growers.

The grower who is scrupulously honest, filling his packages with equal quality fruit or vegetables throughout finds a ready market for his produce. The buyers know precisely what to expect, and can always rely upon him.

The value of the motor truck as an aid in marketing farm products is now well established. In bringing this about improved roads have been an essential factor.

Use Green Tomatoes For Making Marmalade.

To those who are fond of the piquant flavor of green tomatoes in made dishes, the following recipe for marmalade, given out by the Department of Agriculture, will be welcome:

Green Tomato Marmalade.

To those who are fond of the piquant flavor of green tomatoes in made dishes, the following recipe for marmalade, given out by the Department of Agriculture, will be welcome:

Green Tomato Marmalade.

2 pounds green tomatoes.
1 1/2 cups sugar.
One-half lemon and 1 orange, or one-quarter cup sugar.
2 1/2 lemons (10 ounces).
Wash and trim tomatoes, cut into slices medium thick. Cut lemon and orange into very thin slices. (Be careful to pick out all seeds.) Add sugar and sugar. A small amount of salt (one-eighth to one-fourth teaspoon) is often considered advantageous; here, as always, it renders the sweet taste of sugar less cloying. Boiling orange peel for a few minutes in salted water prevents its hardening later, when cooked in syrup.
Heat slowly, stirring until well mixed, then simmer gently until the tomatoes are soft and the marmalade has the consistency of thick, heavy jam. This will require three to four hours. There should be about 1 pint of marmalade.
If a caramel flavor is liked, the heat may be slightly increased at the very last so that the jam darkens at the bottom next the kettle; but great care must be taken not to overdo this effect as the jam is easily scorched.
A somewhat different effect may be obtained by chopping the rind of lemon and orange. At the end of the long cooking process these bits of chopped rind seem much like chopped nuts.
Orange flavor in preserves does not last indefinitely, apart from the tang of the rind. Consequently this marmalade is best when only a few days or weeks old.

Pooling The Wool Clip Permits Collective Sale.

The advantage of wool pooling and cooperative selling may well be outlined as permitting the growers to sell their wool collectively in a large volume, thus attracting a large number of buyers and making possible the payment of the full value of the wool. The larger buyers are not attracted by individual clips unless they are of considerable magnitude such as some of those produced by the larger ranchers in the West. Nor is the local buyer able to pay the full price for wools which must be purchased in few fleeces at a time and carried at his personal expense and risk until sufficient volume has been accumulated to permit his shipment to some central wool market.

Volume handling such as is possible where the entire clip of the community is sold collectively reduces the cost per pound of buying and handling and will permit the purchaser, whether a local wool merchant or some outside buyer, to pay a higher price per pound than is possible where it is necessary to purchase the wool in small lots.

The Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, is constantly giving assistance to co-operative organizations in the way of methods and will be glad to extend organization practices and selling similar service in the co-operative marketing of wool.

Service Chart on Cholera.

In its efforts to hold down hog cholera with a reduced force, the United States Department of Agriculture is putting out a new type of poster. In a sense it is a service chart. Its picture says to the farmer, "When your hog looks like this, look out for cholera." The picture of a hog in colors shows the visible symptoms of the disease. There is printed on the poster information as to how to proceed.

One-Time Scrub, Always a Scrub.

How do you suppose the cow of 46 centuries ago—26 centuries before Christ—would look compared with your cow? Well, she might not conform to any standard classification, but judged on general appearance, she would out-class a great many American cows of today. A comparison has been made in picture slides by the United States Department of Agriculture. Pictures of cows of the twenty-sixth century, B. C., found on Egyptian monuments, have been made into stereopticon views and placed alongside pictures of scrub cows of today. The same is done with Assyrian horses and some scrub horses of the present time. They illustrate the fact, "Once a scrub, always a scrub." These slides are distributed as a part of a series on better live-stock production by the States Relations Service.

Forestry Increase The Farm Income By—

1. Making waste lands yield a profit by growing timber on poor soils, unused corners, gullied or eroded lands.
2. Furnishing paying employment for men and teams during the winter.
3. Utilizing timber on the farm and avoiding waste by cutting low stumps and small tops, using substitute woods in construction, treating nonlasting woods.
4. Increasing crop yields by planting forest tree windbreaks.
5. Growing more and better timber on the farm through protecting the woods from fire and overgrazing; selecting for cutting the mature, defective, over-crowded, and inferior kinds of trees, and leaving the straight, thrifty, and better kinds; planting to fill up openings in woodlands.
6. Marketing the higher grades of wood products direct to consumers at fair prices in the form of saw logs, poles, piling, cooperage bolts, handle bolts, posts, pulp wood, firewood, spoke blocks, tanning wood and bark.

Make your woodland permanently profitable.

BREWER ATTACKS DRY AMENDMENT

Supreme Court Is Asked To Review Recent De- cision.

Washington, Aug. 6.—William D. Guthrie and Elihu Root, counsel for Christian Feigenspan, a brewer of Newark, N. J. today filed with the United States Supreme Court a petition for a reconsideration of the court's decision on June 7 sustaining the validity of the eighteenth amendment and parts of the Volstead enforcement act.

The petition contended that the eighteenth amendment was designed to deal exclusively with intoxicating liquors. Mr. Feigenspan, in his original suit, sought to prove that beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content was not intoxicating.

The latest petition pointed out the importance and magnitude of the constitutional questions involved and declared that so far as the petitioner has been able to ascertain, "there is no record of any important modern case involving such vital questions being disposed of by a court of final resort without explaining its conclusions."

The brief continued: "Not only is it quite unprecedented in the history of this court for it thus to dispose without opinion of great constitutional questions, but as emphasized by Mr. Justice McKenna in his dissenting opinion, it is difficult to measure the force of the conclusions stated by the court or the deductions properly to be drawn from them. Furthermore, the conclusions do not completely answer questions actually involved in the litigation and submitted for decision."

"As stated by the learned chief justice in his concurring opinion, the court was deciding a case of great magnitude and passing upon an amendment to the constitution of the United States dealing with the powers and duties of the national and state governments, and intimately concerning the welfare of the people."

The petition declared that the meaning and effect of such an amendment was necessarily the "subject of discussion and concern in the forum of public opinion, and the failure of the court to assign any reasons for its decision has tended naturally to invite criticism and create much public dissatisfaction."

"It seems, therefore," the petition continued, "that it is not irrelevant or improper to urge, in support of a plea for a rehearing, that public opinion has doubted and challenged the fitness of summarily deciding and disposing of a great constitutional controversy, involving vast property interests and long-established legitimate industries and intimately concerning the welfare of the whole people, without disclosing the reasons for such disposition."

NOTICE:

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will on the first Tuesday in September, 1920 make application to the State Board of Control at Frankfort, Kentucky, for a parole, and will ask that he be released from his confinement at the state penitentiary, at Eddyville.

U. S. ENDEAVORS TO PRESERVE CEMETERY

Paris, Aug. 3.—In order to prevent any commercial encroachment on Itonagne Cemetery, where 23,000 American soldiers are buried, the French Government has been asked by the American Army Graves Registration Service authorities to purchase the gentle slope facing the front of the cemetery, and the entire crest of the hill occupied in part by the cemetery, as well as plots at both sides.

The Ronsigne, Suresnes and Bellean Woods cemeteries have been approved by the Secretary of War as the permanent resting places of more than 30,000 soldier dead, who will continue to sleep in French soil Suresnes, which is on the slope of Mont Vlerien, one of the forts built to defend Paris, is already protected against encroachment of any kind and the same is nearly true of Bellean.

The extra ground to be purchased at Itonagne will not only safeguard the cemetery against any encroachment, but will provide areas which will be used by American horticultural experts to surround the hallowed spot with trees and shrubbery. At the present time the cemetery is surrounded only with a long wall, and there is no available space for planting.

The beautification of the cemetery will not begin for some months as most of the bodies in the cemetery now are to be removed to America, and this work will not start until mid-September and cannot be finished until some time next year. After this work is finished bodies from other cemeteries will be moved in.

10,000 ATTEND RITUAL OF CANARY IN NEW YORK

Newark, N. J., Aug. 3.—A crowd estimated by the police at 10,000 persons, thronged the streets of the city tonight to witness the funeral of Jimmie, the pet canary of Emilio Russomanno, 65-year-old cobbler. Police reserves were called out to preserve order and clear the streets for the funeral cortege. Jimmie, described by its owner as possessing a "song as sweet as the voice of Caruso," choked to death Sunday on a watermelon seed. Leading the procession was a band of twelve pieces, playing funeral dirges, followed by a hearse bodecked with flowers and carrying a small white coffin, in which the bird's body reposed. The old cobbler, tear-stained and visibly affected, rode in a coach with a few intimate friends.

The cost of the bird's funeral, estimated at $400 was contributed by the cobbler's friends. A tombstone in the shape of a cross with a canary bird in its center will be erected over the bird's grave near Branch Brook Park, the cobbler said.

London, Aug. 7.—Airplanes that sell for $2,500 and cost only two cents a mile to operate are on view at the London Aero Show.

OUIJA KING SAYS PUBLIC ARE FOOLS

Simmons Has No Faith In Boards That Made Him Rich

By Edward M. Thierry in Louisville Herald.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A jolly little fat man sits in a rickety chair in a dusty factory office and laughs so heartily he shakes like a quivering cone of jelly.

Mirth overwhelms him when you mention the ouija board.

For the jolly chap is J. M. Simmons, "Ouija King."

He can afford to laugh. For the people are buying the ouija boards he makes so fast that he's rolling in money.

Laughs At Public.

"The public are fools!" laughs the "Ouija King."

"They'll bite on anything," he continues. "The public belief in the ouija board is a joke. We don't foster it. But the poor deluded fools want the board and we're giving it to them by the thousands."

The past year 500,000 ouija boards were sold by J. M. Simmons & Co., made in a little second-floor factory with ten employees on Chicago's West Side. Simmons said as many more were sold by the William Fuld Company of Baltimore.

Does "Ouija King" Simmons use the ouija board himself? He does not!

If the man who makes the ouija really thought the ouija had any mystic power he would sit right down and ask the ouija to tell him whether the ouija craze is going to last thru the winter.

And—precisely quoting Mr. Simmons:

"I ain't such a fool as to waste my time asking the ouija questions about the craze. Gosh, tho! I'd like to know whether the fool public's going to yell for the ouija next winter. It's hard to get the three-ply lumber stock the boards are made out of unless you order it long in advance. I don't know whether to order lumber or not."

Simmons probably will take a chance. For he's moving into a factory four times as big as the old one. And if the ouija fails him he'll go back to making toys.

It's The Bunk, He says.

Simmons says he doesn't foster mystic belief in the ouija. Yet the directions he puts out contain these statements:

"Many scientists claim this board does not answer questions from an unknown power; that its 'animation' flows from personal magnetism. Spiritualists claim that invisible spirits guide its movements, a superior intelligence ruling our future."

"If you fail to get results in playing the board, it is at no time the fault of the board. It is merely that the so-called psychic force is undeveloped in the operators. In that case, simply ask someone who has played a board before to operate it with you, and you will undoubtedly secure immediate results."

"Of course, that's all bunk," says jolly Mr. Simmons.

ARMED MEN START AFTER BANDITS IN AIRPLANE

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 3.—An airplane driven by Lieut. F. C. Brilerly and Fred Wallace, both men heavily armed, was started in pursuit of the bandits who robbed the Moline Commercial Savings Bank here today. When last heard from, the aviators were scouring Henry and Mercer counties in Illinois. The bandits are known to have escaped in that direction.

Moline, Ill., Aug. 3.—Six men entered the Commercial Savings Bank here just before noon today, locked bank officials in the vault and escaped with $20,000 after a running revolver fight with citizens and police. Charles Mohler, a barber, was shot and probably fatally wounded. The robbers fled from the city in an automobile.

WELL AND HAPPY WOMAN, SHE SAYS

Was All Run Down And Worn Out When She Be- gan taking Tanlac.

"I have taken only two bottles of Tanlac, but it is just wonderful how it has built me up," said Mrs. Bertha Grimes of 1520 Portland Ave., Louisville, Ky., while recently telling a Tanlac Representative of her recovery after taking the medicine.

"I was in a miserable, run-down condition," Mrs. Grimes continued. "and I had been that way for six months before I started taking Tanlac. I was so weak I could not do my housework and I honestly believe my little six-year-old boy was stronger than I was. My appetite was poor and what I ate seemed to do me more harm than good. Nearly all the time I had pain in my side and if I started to even sweep the floor I would give completely out. I was troubled a great deal with constipation and had to be taking laxatives every few days. I hardly knew what it was to get a good night's sleep and I got up feeling worn-out every morning."

A friend of my husband's told him about Tanlac and one night he brought me some home. And now I am happy to say that things are entirely different and life is again worth living. My appetite is just fine and although I eat three good meals every day I still feel hungry. Everything I eat agrees with me and is fast giving me back my lost strength and energy. The pain in my side has disappeared and I am no longer troubled with constipation. For the first time in six months I know what it is to get a good night's rest and sleep and I get up of mornings feeling so strong that it is no trouble for me to do my housework. It is just wonderful what a great change has come over me and Tanlac deserves credit for it all."

Tanlac is sold in Hartford by Dr. L. B. Bean, in Horse Branch by Olafson Drug Co., in Rockport by James Browning, in Cromwell by Wallace & Porter, in Beaver Dam by R. T. Taylor, Jr., and in Melleny, by S. J. Tichenor.—Advertisement.

THE FESTIVE PEANUT

The peanut, which was introduced to this country some 50 years ago with the pink lemonade of the circus, has risen from its humble position of that time to one of high commercial importance. The value of the crop in the United States in 1919 was $50,000,000, and we imported $40,000,000 more. The rapid rise of the peanut is due to the demand for vegetable oil to take the place of animal fats. The peanut is composed of about 50 per cent oil and 25 per cent protein. On account of the ease of its production it offers a splendid opportunity to farmers living in the "peanut belt." It is forecast that our peanut crop this year will be 40,000,000 bushels. Alabama comes first, then Georgia, then Virginia.

FAITHFUL DOG GUARDS MASTER'S DEAD BODY

Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 7.—Faithful unto death.

Such was the code of "Jack," collie dog, whose master, Dr. Fred Arnim, hypotist and patent medicine vendor, lay dead on the front porch of his home here, shot by Mrs. Arch Walker, wife of a local machinist.

Police, answering the call that Arnim had been killed, found the man had already been removed inside.

"Jack" met them at the door. When one of the men started in, he met the bared teeth of a frightening collie, ready to give battle. The officer halted.

Investigation of the affair was halted until a previous owner of the dog was summoned. The collie went in the house, licked his master's hand and then followed his boss of puppyhood days without a backward look.

Dr. Arnim, who was 60 years old, was shot by Mrs. Walker this morning. No motive has been learned and stories regarding the affair vary. The woman is being held while an investigation is carried on by the police.

DEMOCRATS TO CAMPAIGN FOR HARDING-COOLIDGE

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Samuel J. Randall, of Philadelphia, son of the famous "Sam" Randall, of Pennsylvania, who for years was one of the most prominent Democrats in the House, will take the stump in this campaign for Harding and Coolidge. This was announced by Senator New, head of the Republican Speakers' Bureau, today. Mr. Randall has campaigned for the Democratic ticket in four preceding presidential campaigns, but he refuses to support the Democratic party this year and has come out squarely for Harding and Coolidge, offering to speak wherever wanted. He soon will speak in Maine.

SEARCY PICKED TO LEAD G. O. P. FIGHT

Duplicate The Victory Of 40,000 Is Command Given

(Louisville Herald)

The Republican State Central Committee, in session in Louisville yesterday, sent telegrams to members of both houses of the Tennessee Legislature urging them to vote and work for immediate ratification of the federal suffrage amendment.

This action was taken on motion of J. Matt Chilton, member of the committee from the Fifth District, and followed brief talks by Mrs. Christine Brindley South, member of the National Republican Committee for Women; Mrs. John W. Langley, member of the committee from the state-at-large; and Mrs. Josephine Markas, chairman of the Woman's Bureau for Scott County.

The speakers emphasized the important part women are to play in the election this fall and urged that every effort be made to secure ratification of the thirty-sixth state in time for women to participate in every state in all elections in November. Mrs. South who recently has traveled over many of the states and been in conference with party leaders at national headquarters in New York and Chicago, declared the women are for the Republicans if they can only get the ballot.

Searcy Made Chairman.

Secretary Lilburn Phelps sent the following telegram to all Republican members of the Legislature immediately after the meeting:

"Louisville, Ky., Aug. 11, 1920.

"Republican State Central Committee of Kentucky today voted unanimously to request Republican members of both houses of the Tennessee Legislature to vote for and to use all honorable means to secure the ratification of the federal suffrage amendment." Signed Lilburn Phelps, secretary of the committee.

Contrary to expectations that Maurice Galvin, of Covington, would be made campaign chairman, the committee, on motion of Robert W. Hunter, member from the state-at-large, unanimously elected Chesley H. Searcy to lead the party again. In placing the name of Mr. Searcy before the committee, Mr. Hunter said, he took great pleasure in suggesting a chairman who will be satisfied with nothing less than 40,000 majority for the Republican ticket this fall.

"Fight Is On"—Searcy.

Details of the campaign organization were left in the hands of Chairman Searcy, who was authorized to name members of the campaign committee, his assistants for the campaign, members of the speakers' bureau and finance committee, together with heads of the various campaign organizations. It was reported at state headquarters following the meeting that Mr. Galvin will be associated with Mr. Searcy in directing the fight for election of Mr. Ernst to the United States Senate. Mr. Ernst said in a speech following the election of Mr. Searcy that the committee had named the man for chairman that he would have named had the selection been left entirely with him. "The fight is on," declared Mr. Searcy, in accepting the chairmanship.

Mr. Searcy said he would give careful attention to perfecting his organization and would probably announce this week the names of those who will assist him in the work. He promised an active and aggressive campaign in the following statement:

League Called Unpopular.

"There is nothing that at present can be foreseen to prevent decisive victory for the Republican ticket in Kentucky this year. When everything is considered, and every factor placed in the balance, it is readily seen that Democracy's chances are small. The statement that 'this is a Republican year' is based upon an understanding of the facts. The people have had just enough of Democratic misrule to convince them that the country's hope is in the Republican party.

"In the state at large, the majority of men and women are irreconcilably against Wilson's League of Nations. Those people who once admired the President's conduct of affairs, a large majority of them lifelong Democrats, have changed their views. They are convinced that Wilson has carried things too far. They can not bring themselves to believe in policies that would keep our American lads fighting battles of every country on the face of the globe.

"Added to this, the people have suffered excess taxation, inflation, profligate government waste and reckless extravagance as long as they propose to. They have placed the whole burden of blame upon the Democratic administration, knowing that a Republican Congress has passed laws empowering that administration to act, but in vain.

Terms Cox Willoutlet.

"That Governor Cox has accepted the Wilsonian idea is not questioned. He has announced to the country that he is 'at one' with the President on the League of Nations issue. He promises to carry out the Wilson policies 'without the dotting of an i or the crossing of a t,' which means that, if he is elected, America must suffer four years more of what it has endured since 1913, with Wilson as nothing other than the power behind the throne.

"Let's Get Busy"—Morrow.

The speech by Governor Morrow was an appeal for the workers to go back home and from this minute get busy to carry Kentucky for Harding and Coolidge along with the entire Republican ticket. He said Kentucky can be carried for the party if every Republican will fall in line and do his best from now until the polls close on November 2.

Langley Likes Outlook.

Congressman Langley said he never saw conditions quite so favorable for Republican success as they are in the mountains of Kentucky. The name of Ches. Searcy, Mr. Langley declared, is the rainbow of promise to the Republican voters in this section of the state.

Louisville and the Fifth District will be in line for the Republican ticket, according to Congressman Charles F. Ogden, who said that while the Democrats have put up a candidate for Congress, they are not expecting much at his hands. He predicted that the Fifth District would give 12,000 majority for Harding and Coolidge and the entire Republican ticket.

ATTENDS RETAIL DRY- GOODSMAN'S CONFERENCE

J. H. B. Carson returned yesterday from St. Louis, where he had been attending a conference of Retail Dry-goodsmen. The meeting was attended by Retail Merchants from every State in the Union, the object being to discuss the present merchandise situation and gain a thorough knowledge of conditions throughout the whole country and thereby secure better accommodations for both retailer and consumer.

CLEAR RUN.

The fine rain which fell last Saturday brought about a great change in the appearance of the corn and tobacco crops. They have come out wonderfully in the last few days.

Mrs. Gertry Funk opened her school at Taylor's School house Monday, with a goodly number of pupils present.

School opened here Monday, and everything seems, according to report, to be running smoothly.

Mrs. James Everling is ill.

Yates Everling, who has been quite sick is now able to attend school.

Miss Nora Hoover, who has been visiting relatives here for the past three weeks, returned to her home in Owensboro Tuesday.

A CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the friends who rendered assistance in the death and burial of our mother, Mrs. Lou Tweddell Vanover, and especially would we express our appreciation to those who contributed the beautiful floral offerings and assisted in the song service.

Dr. T. D. Renfrow and family, of Cynthiana, who have been visiting relatives here and at Dundee, accompanied by Mrs. A. T. Lee, left for Bowling Green Wednesday, to visit relatives. Mrs. Lee will spend some time with her son, who is a student in the Business School there.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nance are having their furniture and household goods moved from Henderson to Owensboro, where they will resume housekeeping. Mrs. Nance and little son have been in Hartford during the major portion of the time since Mr. Nance accepted a position in Owensboro.

The family of Mr. J. P. McKinnay, who have been residing here for some time, moved to Simmons yesterday, where they will make their home. Mr. McKinnay being in the employ of the Broadway Coal Co. at that place. The removal of this most estimable family is a distinct loss to Hartford.

Do you have trouble with the wicks of your oil stove sticking and hanging? Yes, we all do, but the Boss Twin-Lift won't, for it is so arranged that it can't stick. It pushes the wick up from the bottom on two sides. Instead of one small cog wheel from one side. This stove burns 99.66 per cent air to .34 per cent oil. For sale by WILLIAMS & DUKE.

Dr. J. R. Pirie and son, Ferdinand, returned Sunday afternoon from Henderson, where they had been visiting Dr. Pirie's daughter, Mrs. V. P. Ligon and Mr. Ligon. Mr. Ligon, who is with the Engineering Department, State Highway Commission has accepted a position in the office at Frankfort, to which place he and Mrs. Ligon will move at an early date.

You are invited to call and see my new Dental Office, just opened over Deposit Bank. Besides the conveniences we now have, we are installing electrical equipment that will help make our services more proficient. Lady attendant.

Yours respectfully,

You have been thinking about a Separator, now is the time to buy. You have disposed of your calves and you are not so busy in your crops. Remember that the Sharples is the only Separator that skims clean at any speed and has only 3 working parts to clean compared to the basket full of tinware of other makes. They cost more than some other makes because they are worth more. You don't want a make-shift machine for only a year or two. A separator is supposed to last a life time, and a Sharples will do so.

WILLIAMS & DUKE.

Quite a number of Hartford citizens attended the Association at Pond Run yesterday and Wednesday. Among those whose names were able to secure are the following: Rev. and Mrs. Russell Walker, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bratcher, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Smith, Mrs. O. T. Burns, Prof. J. F. Bruner, Judge Mack Cook, Messrs. Wm. Fair, Steve Ellis, Cal P. Keown, R. R. Riley, Frank and L. B. Tichenor and McDowell Fair, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Rev. R. E. Fuqua, of this place, who is also pastor of the Pond Run Church.

The Premium lists of the big Rockport Ind. Fair are out and will be mailed to any one who will send a post card to Mr. C. M. Partridge, Secretary. The dates are Aug. 26, 27, and 28th. The Rockport Fair is noted far and wide for its beautiful grounds. It is a natural forest but the center field is without a tree. And the ground raises from the track so that one can stand on the high ground about the track and always have a view of the race. The Rockport Fair is noted for its exciting races. There is a good ferry at Rockport and its a delightful place to spend a vacation. People owning tents or automobiles with tents are invited to camp on the ground without extra charge. Nearly every day they have a public wedding. They will give a nice prize and everything is free to any couple getting married.

VILLA "STALLING"; SURRENDER HOAX

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 11.—Francisco Villa has not retired from the field and his "surrender" was cunningly arranged for by "Peon Patriot" himself in order to give his men ample time to rest up, get supplies and money from the main government and again take the field against the Obregonists. This startling statement was made in San Antonio this afternoon by General Pablo Gonzales, who was "deported" from Mexico by order of De La Huerta, acting on the advice of Gen. Alvaro Obregon.

Altho General Gonzales did not claim to know positively that Villa's retirement was only a hoax, he stated emphatically that to the best of his belief the crafty "Mexican fox" was only "stalling" for time to deceive the Mexican government into paying the rebels big bribes and outfit them with much needed supplies, and to give them time to get to their beloved mountains in the state of Chihuahua, where they would be out of harm's way from the superior federal forces.

Gonzales arrived in San Antonio today from the border and left this afternoon for Los Angeles to get a "much-needed rest." He says that he will then go on to New York on "personal business not connected with politics." He claims that he will tour Europe "in order to be as far away from Mexico City as possible during the coming election." He stated that he would never again enter Mexican politics, but declared he would return to his native land to retire to private life at his home in Monterey, as soon as the September elections were over.

Gonzales said he was given every courtesy by the government following his arrest in Monterey for alleged complicity in the attack upon that city by rebels a few weeks ago. He said that it was an "infamous frame up" and that he was sure to clear himself of all suspicion "but had been advised to leave Mexico until after the elections" by men in close touch with his personal enemy, Obregon.

"Villa is the only important revolutionary chieftain in Mexico today," he continued upon being pressed for his reasons for suspecting Villa's published announcement that he would "retire." He stated that there had been many more revolutions organized along the Texas border, during the last few months than in the interior of Mexico. All of these revolts had been easily quashed at the beginning by the armies of De la Huerta, he admitted.

Fordson Tractors

Ohio county is falling far short of her duty in raising wheat. We should at least raise enough wheat to bread our inhabitants. It is true that occasionally we have a bad season, and a big fall off in acreage and yield is inevitable, but we must not get discouraged. We must double our energies, strengthen our sail and the general average will be satisfactory. Some claim a shortage in labor. That's true, but a FORDSON TRACTOR will easily supply this deficiency and make the growing of a good crop of wheat more certain.

We Are Ready To Demonstrate

on your own farm the superior advantages of this famous farm horse. You can run your tractor all day and part of the night, or all night if you please. You have no idea what you can accomplish with a FORDSON TRACTOR until you try. We have the best tractor on the market. We are prepared to give you the service you need in keeping your tractor going. We have experienced mechanics and operators who know the game, and they are at your service at any time you need them. Remember, the FORDSON is the best tractor, and remember we have the only real service department in the county on tractors.
